

Disclaimer

When visiting or listing on this site it must be understood that:-

Marrickville Business Association is responsible for maintaining this site and to the best of their knowledge believes all the information to be accurate. However, Marrickville Business Association disclaims all liability and responsibility for any loss or damage, which may be suffered by reliance on any information or material located on this website or attached to it. All information must be verified to ascertain its correctness and accuracy.

All organisations on this website are selected at the discretion of Marrickville Business Association.

Information about organisations on this site is provided by the organisations themselves and as such Marrickville Business Association is not responsible for the accuracy or authenticity of the information. All information must be verified to ascertain its correctness and accuracy.

Any information, advertisements or links relating to any of the organisations is provided for convenience only and does not imply or suggest that Marrickville Business Association endorses or approves those organisations.

Marrickville Business Association does not claim to provide all inclusive directory with all possible listings available. Although listings are being added all the time, it is impossible to guarantee complete accuracy. The Association is not always made aware of the changes in circumstances of organisations.

Marrickville Business Association has chosen to design this site to be viewed best on a monitor set to 1024 x 768 resolution, as this configuration is the most commonly used and conforms to web standards. The Association has ensured also that this site is capable of being viewed by the latest versions of both Internet Explorer and Mozilla Firefox. In the event this site is distorted or too large/ too small in size Marrickville Business Association disclaims all liability and responsibility as it is not within its control as to how other computers are configured.